In late 2023, Builds Bio+ forged a groundbreaking partnership with London's vibrant Life Science community, setting the stage for a three-day immersive dive into the burgeoning New York Life Science cluster. Attendees from London experienced the Life Science landscapes of New York through guided tours and tuned into insightful presentations from public officials, private developers , and academic leaders.

NEW YORK/LONDON LIFE SCIENCES STUDY TOUR RESEARCH REPORT LAUNCH

- The culmination of this journey was the official release of the New York/London Life Sciences Study Tour Research Paper, "Evolution of the New York Life Sciences Market". This exclusive event unveiled the comprehensive research study paper that highlights key observations and findings from the immersive tours. The paper serves as a critical resource, shedding light on the potential influences and opportunities within the life science ecosystem in both New York and London.
- The event featured a series of esteemed speakers from the London marketplace, who provided their perspectives on the evolution and future trajectory of the UK's life sciences sector. Their discussions underscored the importance of international collaboration and innovation in driving the industry forward.

LONDON UK LIFE SCIENCES STUDY TOUR

Builds Bio+ successfully hosted an enriching Life Science Study Tour in London/UK, providing a unique and meticulously curated experience for those eager to delve into the world of biomedical innovation. From April 23 to 25, 2024, participants explored key locations within London/UK's vibrant life science ecosystem, recognized globally for its blend of tradition and cutting-edge research.

A photograph of a group of people at a professional event. In the center, a man with grey hair, wearing a grey blazer over a light blue shirt, is smiling and talking to a woman with blonde hair in a ponytail, who is wearing a black top and carrying a large black leather bag. To the right, a man in a dark blue shirt with a brown leather backpack is also part of the conversation. A woman with blonde hair is visible behind him, smiling. In the background, there is a large black screen and a white wall. The overall atmosphere is professional and friendly.
